

WHAT IS LONG SERVICE LEAVE

Long service leave is an entitlement available to most NSW workers, where they can take 2 months of paid leave after they have worked for the same employer for 10 consecutive years. Then every 5 years of service after that they can take 1 month of paid leave.

Conditions for eligibility and granting of long service leave in NSW are governed by the Long Service Leave Act 1955 and is administered by Industrial Relations.

WHAT IS PORTABLE LONG SERVICE

The Long Service Corporation (LSC) provides a long service payment to workers who have a minimum 10 years of recorded service in the NSW building and construction industry, then every 5 years of recorded service, regardless of whether they have worked for multiple employers or as a contractor.

Conditions for eligibility and granting of a lump sum long service payment in NSW are governed by the Building and Construction Industry Long Service Payments Act 1986 No 19 and has been administered by LSC since the scheme commenced in 1975. For further information see Scheme Overview.

WHAT IS THE DIFFERENCE

Workers who are eligible for an entitlement under both Acts can choose to take paid leave through their employer OR a lump sum payment from LSC. The payment amount will differ depending on how the worker chooses to take it and when.

Workers who have received an entitlement from their employer under the Long Service Leave Act 1955 are not eligible to claim an entitlement from LSC for the same period.

Superannuation and redundancy are often mistaken for long service entitlements, however they are not the same.

HOW DOES IT WORK

Employers need to register and record service with LSC for employees who are doing eligible building and construction work in NSW. For further information on employer obligations see Your Legal Obligations.

Contractors need to have a registered tax agent lodge a Self-Employed Worker Certificate of Service each financial year.

A year of recorded service is equal to 220 days. This is calculated by deducting weekends, annual leave, sick leave, public holidays and industry picnic days. For further information see Get Service Credits.

HOW MUCH DOES IT COST

There is no cost to employers or workers as the scheme is funded by a levy on building and construction work in NSW where a cost of works is $25,000 or above and paid by the person having the building work done.

For further information see Long Service levy.

WHAT DO I HAVE TO DO

Worker Registration Number - Whenever you start a new job, you will need to provide your LSC worker registration number to your employer so they can record service for you each year. If you are a contractor your tax agent will need to record your service. For further information see Joining the Scheme.

Annual Statement - Your annual statement is made available via the Worker Portal every financial year. It is important that you check your annual statement to ensure all your eligible NSW building and construction work has been recorded. For further information see Annual Statements.

Worker Portal - Register for access to the portal to check your recorded service at any time and to ensure your contact details are correct. Visit www.longservice.nsw.gov.au/online-portal to register.

Check your Recorded Service - Ensure all your NSW building and construction work is recorded correctly. If you have been unable to work, check if you are eligible for service preservation days, special credits or a long service payment. If you have less than 5 years of service recorded and no service recorded for 4 years, your registration may be cancelled. To prevent possible cancellation, you will need to keep us updated about your circumstances. For further information see Cancellation of Registration.

TYPE OF WORK COVERED

Eligible workers are employees and contractors (whether an employee, contractor, apprentice, casual or labour hire) who perform work in NSW in the building and construction industry.

Workers need to meet the following 3 part test:

1. Must be in the private sector.
2. Perform work in NSW in the building and construction industry as defined by the Building and Construction Industry Long Service Payments Act 1986 No. 19.
3. Perform work for which a rate of pay is fixed under an award prescribed in the Building and Construction Industry Long Service Payments Regulation 2017.

NOTE: If a type of work has a rate of pay in a prescribed award, that does not automatically make the work eligible for the scheme, the work has to pass the 3 part test. For further information see Type of Work Covered.

WORKING OUTSIDE NSW

Each state and territory have their own portable scheme. Workers performing building and construction work outside of NSW may be eligible to register and record service credits with the state or territory where the work was done. For further information see Interstate Work.

NOTE: The Scheme's legislative provisions do not apply to Commonwealth Land, therefore work undertaken on Commonwealth Land is ineligible.

WHEN CAN I APPLY FOR A PAYMENT

You can apply for a long service payment after a minimum of:

- 10 years of service, and then every 5 years after that, and staying in the industry
- 5 or more years recorded service, and permanently ceasing work in the industry

- 55 or more days recorded service, and retired from the industry at age 55 or more

This can be a combination of service recorded across all states and territories, however the application for payment must be issued and lodged to the scheme where the most recent service is recorded. For further information see Long Service Payment.
